

Heartfelt Reviews For Voice of the Victims...

"Designer drugs are a pandemic in our nation and Beth Pearce is doing something about it."
Hugh Hewitt, Talk Radio Host and Author

"Thank you for everything you have done to help us, the parents, tell our stories about our loved ones. Together, you and your crew have helped to save many lives. But most of all, you have given our loved ones a chance to make a difference in the world."
David Lorenz, Father of Ecstasy Victim Steven

"No matter how much time I spend involved in drug awareness campaigns and as an EMT, I still cry with each Voice of the Victims story. Your videos are the most powerful I have seen to date."
Gwen DeRupo, Project GHB, New Jersey

"What a powerful and informative video! Parents will now have a much clearer understanding of the drug use of today's youth. Thanks for making such a huge difference."
Elise Hagmann, Mother of GHB Victim

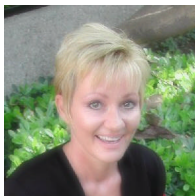

"Thank you for standing up for all that is good. Your hard work is changing lives. I'm so glad you just keep pressing on. May God richly bless you."
Larry Lockshaw, Concerned Father

"There's nothing out there like this. Parents need to see this as much as the kids do."
Glen Stanley, Club Drug & Narcotics Detective

"Beth, there is nothing out there like this for the families and for the kids! Every single family needs these videos!"
Kristie Johnson, Licensed Drug Counselor

"I hear it all the time from young drug users....'It's my life, my body. I can do what I want.' But the stories told in your presentations are proof that many other lives are impacted by decisions individuals make ... impacted forever ... and always with sadness."
Trinka Porrata, Nationally Known Designer Drug Expert

"Beth, Keep fighting the good fight."
Montel Williams, TV Host and Author

Voice of the Victims

Don't count on anyone else to teach your kids the drug lessons that could save their lives! Having the "drug conversation" is just as hard for me as it is for you. You don't want to sound accusing; you don't know how to start. Voice of the Victims is the perfect icebreaker, and will lead to really meaningful talks. Order your copies today on our Web site, or, if you don't have Internet access, please call.
